THE WHIG PLATFORM.

The Whigs of the United States, in Convention assembled, firmly adhering to the great conservative republican principles by which they are controlled and governed, and now, as ever, relying upon the intelligence of the American people, with an abiding confidence in their capacity for self-government and their continued devotion to the constitution and the Union de weeklein the constitution and their continued devotion to the constitution and the Union, do proclaim the following as the political sentiments and determinations for the establishment and maintenance of which their national organization as a party is effected:

1. The government of the United States is of a limited character, and it is confined to the exercise of powers expressly granted by the constitution, and such as may be necessary and proper for carrying the granted powers into full execution; and that all powers not thus granted or precessarily invited are expressly.

tion; and that all powers not thus granted or necessarily implied are expressly reserved to the States, respectively, and to the people.

2. The State governments should be held se-cure in their reserved rights, and the general gov-ernment sustained in its constitutional powers, and the Union should be revered and watched over as "the palladium of our liberties."

3. That, while struggling freedom everywhere enlists the warmest sympathy of the Whig party, we still adhere to the doctrines of the Father of his Country, as announced in his Farewell Adhis Country, as announced in his Farewell Address, of keeping ourselves free from all entangling alliances with foreign countries, and of never quitting our own to stand upon foreign ground. That our mission as a republic is not to propagate our opinions, or impose on other countries our form of government by artifice or force, but to teach by example, and show, by our success, moderation, and justice, the blessings of self-government and the advantages of free institutions.

self-government and the advantages of free institutions.

4. That where the people make and control the government, they should obey its constitution, laws, and treaties, as they would retain their self-respect and the respect which they claim and will enforce from foreign powers.

5. Government should be conducted upon principles of the strictest economy, and revenue sufficient for the expenses thereof, in time of peace, ought to be mainly derived from a duty on imports, and not from direct taxes; and in levying such duties, sound policy requires a just discrimination, and protection from fraud by specific duties when practicable, whereby suitable encouragement may be assured to American industry, equally to all classes and to all portions of the equally to all classes and to all portions of the oountry.

6. The constitution vests in Congress the power

6. The constitution vests in Congress the power to open and repair harbors, and remove obstructions from navigable rivers; and it is expedient that Congress should exercise that power, whenever such improvements are necessary for the common defence, or for the protection and facility of commerce with foreign nations or among the States; such improvements being, in every instance, national and general in their character.

7. The federal and State governments are parts of one system, alike necessary for the common prosperity, peace, and security, and ought to be prosperity, peace, and security, and ought to be regarded alike with a cordial, habitual, and immovable attachment. Respect for the authority of each, and acquiescence in the constitu-tional measures of each, are duties required by the plainest considerations of national, of State, and of individual welfare.

8. The series of acts of the 31st Congress com-8. The series of acts of the 31st Congress commonly known as the Compromise or Adjustment (the act for the receivery of fugitives from labor included) are received and acquiesced in by the Whigs of the United States as a final settlement, in principle and substance, of the subjects to which they relate; and, so far as these acts are concerned, we will maintain them, and insist on their strict enforcement, until time and experience and depresents the necessity of supplies the processity of supplies the s perience shall demonstrate the necessity of further legislation, to guard against the evasion of the laws on the one hand, and the abuse of their the laws on the one hand, and the abuse of their powers on the other—not impairing their present efficiency to carry out the requirements of the constitution; and we deprecate all further agita-tion of the questions thus settled, as dangerous to our peace, and will discountenance all efforts ue or renew such agitation, whenever wherever, or however made; and we will main-tain this settlement as essential to the nationality of the Whig party and the integrity of the Union.

THE LOST SENSES: DEAFNESS AND BLIND

NESS. By Dr. Kitto.

"This is a work of great interest, from one of the most learned and accomplished writers of the ago, revealing the mysteries of the world in which those live who have been deprived of the sense of sight or hearing. Ever since his boyhood, for more than thirty years, Dr. Kitto has passed a life of great activity as a scholar, in a state of the most intense desfness to which any living creature can be subjected. His account of himself, and of his discriminating remarks on the condition of the blind, (James Mitchell, Laura Bridgeman, and others.) are replete with profound thought on the interesting phenomenon presented in the progress of their mental training."—Christian Observer.

THE Eighth Volume of the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN commences on the 18th of September. It is principally devoted to the diffusion of useful practical knowledge, and is eminently calculated to advance the great interests of industry—Mechanical, Manufacturing and Agricultural—the genius and master-spirit of the nation.

It is unrivalled as a Journal of the Arts and Sciences, and maintains a high character at home and abroad.

The publishers pledge themselves that the future volumes shall at least equal, if not surpass their predecessors. Among the subjects chiefly brought forward and discussed in its columns, are Civil Engineering, Architesture, Rail-roads, Bridges, Arricultural Implements, Manufactures of Metals, Fibrous and Textile Substances, Machinery for the purpose, Chemical processes, Distilling, Coloring, &c., Steam and Gas Engines, Bollers and Furnaces, Mathematical, Philosophical and Optical Instruments, Cars, Carriages, Water Wheels, Wind and Grinding Mills' Powers, Planing Machines, Tools for Lumber, Brick Machines, Farming, Fire Wheels, Wind and Grinding Mills' Powers, Planing Machines, Coloring, &c., Steam and Foreign. The work is in form for binding, contains several hundred Engfavings, over four hundred pages of printed matter, and a copious Index. Nearly all the valuable Patents which issue weekly from the Patent Office are illustrated with Engravings in its columns, thus making the paper a perfect Mechanical Encyclopedia for future as well as present reference.

Valuable Premiums are offered for the largest list of Subscribers to this Volume. It is published weekly by MUNN & CO., at their Patent Agency Office, 128 Fulton street, New York.

KRAUSER'S PATENT CLOVER-SEED HAR-

REFORE THE PUBLIC FOR THE FIRST TIME IS REFORE THE PUBLIC FOR THE FIRST TIME
THE utility is beyond comparison with any other farming implement now in use. It takes the seed from the field, feaving the strew or grass all standing. It weighs two hundred and fifty pounds, is drawn by one horse, and gathers from ten to twelve acres per day. The fingers, or teeth, catch all the heads, the revolving knives cut them off and throw them back into the box, which will cross a twentyacre field without emptying. The heads are then loaded into a wagon and taken directly to the mill for cleaning, thus diminishing the labor three-fourths, and saving all the seed. This machine comes so low that every farmer will have it, and pays the manufacturer 300 per cent.

Transition Coal.

"HIS rare and valuable Coal is a variety not quite changed into an anthracite, and it has only been dis-THIS rare and valuable Coal is a variety not quite changed into an anthracite, and it has only been discovered (in large quantities) at three places upon our globe, vis: at South Wales, Great Britain; at Donetz, in Russia, near the Black Ses; and at Dauphin and Lebanon counties, Pennsylvania. In the London market this coal commands the highest price. It is now amined upon the large estate (45,000 acress) of the Dauphin and Susquehanna Coal Company, situated in Pennsylvania, and it is nearer to the dities of Baltimore and Washington than the coal of any other region. For easy ignition, durability of fire, complete combustion, easy adaptation to the temperature of the weather, and its great power in generating heat, it is the may coal in the world. It has the inflammability of the bituminous coal, with the cleanliness of the anthracite, and a greater durability than either. It burns without making any sool or visible smoke, and the combustion is so complete that it retains the fire until all the coal is consumed. Not so with the anthracites, especially the hard and heavy kinds. They do not burn up, and hence the common troublesome practice of sifting their ashes to obtain more fuel. In burning the Transition Coal there is no weate, for the small coals made by handling, burn as well as ordinary coal. All should be taken out.

A very erroneous impression exists with many persons by handling, burn as well as ordinary coal. All should be taken out.

A very erroneous impression exists with many persons that the heavies coals are the most economical for ordinary purposes. This might be the case if coals were sold by measurement, but never when they are sold by wenter. In Taylor's valuable work, (Statistics of Coal.) the details are given to show that 31 pounds of a free-burning red ash yielded more heat to a room in 15 hours, than 37 pounds of a heavy white sah coal, making the red ash, at $5 50, to be more economical than the white ash at $4 61 per ton. Any person accustomed to use these heavy coals will be astomished at the saving which can be made in burning the lighter kinds, when tested by the weight and burnt in a suitable manner.

An apprehension exists with some that the free-burning coals have a tendency to clinker. Now, as a general rule, no coal will clinker unless greater draught be applied to it than the coal naturally requires. No one would think of applying a bellows constantly to a fire made of seasoned hickory or oak wood, and it would be equally as abound to apply a blast constantly to a free-burning coal. But the heavy white sah anthracties cannot be burnt without a powerful draft, and without using a larger quantity of coal than the temperature of the weather sometimes requires. Various pat terms of stows, furnaces, cooking ranges, &c., are invented annually to conquer this difficulty, but it has never been done with complete success. In every contrivance, however, which has been invented to burn coal, the transition variety will make a beautiful fire, and no complaint will ever be made to a manufacturer or seller of graises or stoves when this coal is used. The draft alone is to be regulated by a damper. In introducing this new coal for the first time, prepared as it now is by steam power machinery for domestic as a second coal coal coal coal cannot be applied to the burst time, prepared as it now is by steam power machinery for domestic as a second coal cannot be appl

Protection from Lightning.

The undersigned, being the duly appointed Agent of Spratt's Electrican and Electro-Maralemous Ligarino-Rio Manufacrost, Covington, Renucky, legs to offer these superior Rods, of Spiral-twited, Carbonized Annealed fron, with Zine Protectors, and Electro-positive elements combined in their manufacture; thus rendering them equal to copper as conductors. They are in ten-feet lengths, with accurately-fitted brase-screw connecting Joints, an entire new style of metallic (patented) attachments, for brick or frame buildings; also, glass isolaters, of a novel and ingenious construction, patented), forming a lock; the whole mounted with a solid platinum silver point, (patented,) twelve inches long, surrounded at the base with three angular negative magnets, which possess the power, to an extraordinary extent, of discharging the opposite elements of the most magnificent and perfect silent conductor ever presented to the public.

Safety has not been compromised by affording these excellent rods at such low rates; the greatest attention has been given to their construction, so as to be readily attached. The astonishing power of the negative magnets, in discharging the air of its opposite elements, has been clearly demonstrated by the Electrometer, when unmagnetised points have shown but slight results, though placed under the same conditions. In fact, theygather and silently discharge slectricity from the atmosphere when you would scarcely suspect any being present.

These improvements being secured by double letters patent, you are hereby cautioned against laying yourselves liable, by purchasing of those who are not authorised, or who are substituting inferior imitations. All agents duly appointed can show their certificates. Have good rods or none.

CHARLES W. HEYDON,
Washington City.

The hereby certify that I have app lied various powerful themical re-agents to Spratt's Patent Points for Lightning-Rods, and that the results of these experiments convince me that they will resist the action of a smoopheric causes, and thereby preserve the extremity sharp—a condition most essential to protection against lightning. The re-agents used in the above experiments were a solution of chloride of so dium, (common sait, acetic acid, sulphuric acid, and hydro-chloric acid. With the first, there was no action on the metal; with the several acids, there was no action on the metal; with the several acids, there was very slight—a fact sufficient to show that atmospheric influences would have no sensible effect.

JOHN LICOONTE, Prof. of Nat. Phill. et Chem.

University of Ga., October 8, 1850.

The Lightning Conductors of Mr. Spratt, offered to me, are well calculated to perform the office for which they are intended. Yours, truly, LEXINOTON, KI., February 20, 1850.

CHICAGO, September 8, 1850.

This may certify that I have examined, somewhat critically, James Spratt's Patent Lightning Rods, and that I am of opinion that it is constructed on scientific principles. For combining durability, cheapness, and efficary, I deem it equal, and I think superior, to any other rod ever offered for my inspection.

AUGUSTA, (GA.) November 11, 1850.

This will certify that I have examined the Lightning Rods, Metallic Compound constituting the Points, as promising, from the result of several tests to which they were submitted, to resist for year the action of those atmospheric causes most likely to corrode them.

A. MEANS,

Prof. Phys. Sc., Emory College, Ga., and Prof. Chem. and Pharm., Medical College, Ga.

The Lightning Conductors put up by Mr. Henry M. Smith, of this city, on the plan of Mr. Spratt, appear to me to be very well devised; and, in point of mechanical construction, of the level of the benefit that the use of these Rods may become very well devised; and, in point of mechanical construction, are the best I have ever seen.

It is to be hoped that the use of these Rods may become general, as an important auxiliary defence against a danger which must be regarded as of no ordinary magnitude, to which all buildings are liable.

A BOOK FOR THE TIMES.

RELPS to a 1 ife of Holiness and Usefulness, or Oaughey's Revival Miscellanies. The demand for this book is almost unprecedented in the history of Methodist publications. Six thousand copies have been sold in about four months. The seventh thousand is now ready. Read thee notices of its character:

"These sermons are admirably fitted for producing effect, immediata, powerful effect, upon the popular mind. Brief, hitting, bold, subjective; abounding in anecdote, illustration, pathos; never prox; never halting for a moment in confident permansion that sinners are to be converted by the truth they press home. * * We unhesitatingly recommend the circulation of this book."—Rev. Dr. Wightman, Ed. S. C. Advocate.

"It is a good work, and all that have bought it say so. One * very good brother said, after reading the sermon on the 'Omnjotence of Faith, that it gave him more of an insight of faith than anything he ever read or heard. A Baptist minister purchased a copy, and was carried away with the spirit of the work."—Rev. Theodore Hill, of the Maine Conference.

"I like Revival Miscellanies very much. It will do good."

In the church."—Rev. G. M. Curpenter, of Providence Onformatic.

"I have read the book, and am not only delighted, but feel that I am a better man. All who have read it are greatly pleased."—Rev. T. Sullins, of the Holston Conformace.

"This book has been a great blessing to my soul. It has fired up my seal, and I feel like working for the Lord as I never did before."—Rev. J. H. Monigomery, of Alabama.

"We should hardly think it possible for any Christian to read this volume without partaking largely of that holy motion which breathes and burns on every page."—Rev. Richard Donkersley, of the Providence Conference.
